

The Center for International Law presents a C.V. Starr Lecture

Judging and Judgment in the 21st Century: The International Criminal Court and the Challenge from Africa's Leaders

Lecturer: Ruti Teitel is the Ernst C. Stiefel Professor of Comparative Law at New York Law School, where she directs the Institute for Global Law, Justice, and Policy. She is an internationally recognized authority on international law, international human rights, transitional justice, and comparative constitutional law. In 2000, Oxford University Press published her path-breaking book Transitional Justice, and, in 2011, the internationally acclaimed Humanity's Law. A life member of the Council on Foreign Relations, last academic year Professor Teitel was a Fellow at the Straus Institute for the Advanced Study of Law and Justice at New York University School of Law, where she completed a new book, Globalizing Transitional Justice: Essays for the New Millennium, to be published this year by Oxford University Press.

Co-sponsor

Wednesday, February 19, 2014

5:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.

New York Law School, W202 – Events Center

185 West Broadway, New York, NY 10013

(Corner of West Broadway and Leonard Street, near the Franklin Street subway station.)

One CLE credit in Professional Practice available at no cost.

All guests must register at www.nyls.edu/cil

Wine and cheese reception at 6:15 p.m.

