Sovereignty and the Extraterritorial Obligations of States under International Human Rights Law

Thursday, 12th September 2019

From 8:15AM to 11:00AM

National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, University Building
45 Academias Street, Room 1

On the occasion of the 15th ESIL Annual Conference on Sovereignty: A Concept in Flux? the Interest Group on International Business and Human Rights invites its members and other interested academic and experts to join a discussion about the sovereignty and the extraterritorial obligations of States under international human rights law.

BACKGROUND

The theme of the 15th ESIL Annual Conference leads with sovereignty, and to what extent this fundamental concept of public international law is under strain due to multiple challenges, ranging from an increasing number of territorial disputes, the vanishing of territories due to climate change and the diminishing of independence due to globalisation. Against this background, the Workshop organized by the ESIL Interest Group on International Business and Human Rights seeks to re-examine the extraterritorial obligations of States under international human rights law to regulate business entities that operate transnationally. The aim of the Workshop is to assess how, and to what extent, extraterritoriality impacts on the State duty to protect human rights, the corporate responsibility to respect human rights and on the victims' right to access remedies.
