

“Reflexive Mondays”

Second EUI Doctoral Forum on International Law

Practising Reflexivity in International Law

The Law Department of the European University Institute (EUI) is delighted to share the programme for its second Doctoral Forum on International Law which will be held online in February and March 2021, with the support of the European Society of International Law. The Forum is structured around five episodes, or “Reflexive Mondays”, that invite participants to reflect on the practice of reflexivity in international law.

Reflexive Mondays – Episode 1

8 February 2021 at 10:00-12:00 (CET/Florence)

Discussant: Professor Sarah Nouwen

Presentations:

1. Aleydis Nissen, “Case Study Research in Kenya and South Korea: a Millennial Westerner Perspective”
2. Stewart Manley, “The Chill Around our Ankles”
3. Julia Emtseva, “Practicing Reflexivity in International Law: Running a Never-Ending Race to Catch Up with the Western International Lawyers”
4. Lena Holzer and Manon Beury, “Orientations in International Law: A Tool for 3D-Positionality”

Reflexive Mondays – Episode 2

15 February 2021 at 14:00-16.30 (CET/Florence)

Discussant: Professor Gleider Hernández

Presentations:

1. Raghavi Viswanath, “Recalibrating Reflexivity in International Criminal Justice Using The Gambia v. Myanmar”
2. Radhika Kapoor and Sharngan Aravindakshan, “Curtain Call: The International Criminal Prosecutor as a Performer”
3. Tommaso Soave, “The Two Faces of the Invisible College: Cooperation and Competition in the International Judicial Community”
4. Kyra Wigard, “The Judiciary of the International Court of Justice and International Criminal Court: a Closer Look at the Backgrounds of International Judges, 1991-2020”
5. Richard Mackenzie-Gray Scott, “Overcoming Greed: Responsibility and the Potential of the International Law Profession”

Reflexive Mondays – Episode 3

22 February 2021 at 14:00-16:00 (CET/Florence)

Discussant: Professor Jean d'Aspremont

Presentations:

1. Odile Amman, “Language Bias as a Driver of Inequality in International Law: Symptoms, Explanations, Implications, and Remedies”
2. Gabriel Lentner, “English and the Production of Ignorance in International Law Scholarship”
3. Matilda Gillis, “The Need for Self-reflection by International Lawyers on their Metaphor Use”
4. Daniel Ricardo Quiroga-Villamarin, “Authors, Authorities, and Authoritarians: Interrogating the Politics of Citation in International Legal Scholarship”

Reflexive Mondays – Episode 4

1 March 2021 at 10:00-12:30 (CET/Florence)

Discussant: Professor Neha Jain

Presentations:

1. Dorothea Endres, “Connecting Perspective of the Global South with Perspectives of the Global North on human rights obligations of corporations”
2. Basalalli Akhila, “International Legal Order: What It Means To The Global South?”
3. Nadia Kornioti, “Reflexivity and Legal Research at the Law's Historical Turn”
4. Cristina Teleki, “Lawyers, Military conflict and Human Rights in Ukraine”
5. Aruna Michiels, “A Reflexive Orientation to the Field of International Humanitarianism”

Reflexive Mondays – Episode 5

8 March 2021 at 10:00-12:00 (CET/Florence)

Discussant: Professor Ernst-Ullrich Petersmann

Presentations:

1. Alexandra Molitorisová, “The “Turn to Ethics” and the “Turn to Science” in International Law”
2. Raphael Oidtmann, “Moving Beyond (International) Law? On the International Lawyer's (Forced) Appetite for Trans-disciplinary Expertise”
3. Abhimanyu George Jain, “Deconstruction of International Legal Discourse on Lethal Autonomy”