ESIL IGHIL Blog

The ESIL IGHIL Blog continues to be a reference for interested researchers in legal history, international law, diplomatic history, legal theory, and philosophy of law.

Numerous announcements of books, calls for papers, notifications of journal issues as well as of both online and physical conferences have been posted since the creation of the Blog. In many case notification of new books and issues of journals is accompanied by an outline of contents and a brief overview.

In the last twelve months (up to 23 September), the blog counts over 14 000 views per month, with sparks of 1 520

as EJIL Focus Sections (e.g., Camilo Barcia Trelles), important books (e.g., Payk & Priemel (eds.), Crafting the International Order, OUP 2021), or calls for conferences (e.g., "Law(s) and international relation", Orléans, 15-17 Sept 2021) are announced.
