

ESIL IG ON INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS LAW PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOP
Technology, Vulnerability and Human Rights Law

Wednesday 4 September 2024 – 09:00-12:00 EEST – Vilnius / online

9-9.10 Welcome and Introduction

9:10-10:40 Panel 1- Vulnerable Groups

Chair: Joyce De Coninck, European University Institute (Italy)

- Iris Richer, Université Laval (Canada)
Vulnerability and Children's Rights: Towards a Better Understanding and Protection of the Right of the Child to Participate in Cultural Life in the Digital Environment
- Murtaza Mohiqi, University of South-Eastern Norway
Digital Empowerment and Inclusive Innovations: Interdisciplinary Strategies for Marginalized Communities
- Parkhi Saxena and Gaurav Pathak, Jindal Global Law School (India)
Deepfakes and Human Rights Challenges: Examining the Technology from a Feminist Legal Lens
- Nahide Basri, University College London (United Kingdom)
Protecting information of occupied people during occupation

10:40-10:50 Break

10:50-12:00 Panel 2- Services and Vulnerabilities

Chair: Elena Abrusci, Brunel University London (United Kingdom)

- Ramona Vijayarasa, University of Technology Sydney (Australia)
AI and North-South inequality: Can international law bridge the algorithmic divide and democratise knowledge?
- Laurence Helfer and Veronika Fikfak, Duke University (USA) and University College London (United Kingdom)
Automating International Human Rights Adjudication
- Margaret Warthon, University of Groningen (Netherlands)
Protecting the vulnerable in biometric identity management: A socio-technical approach to public automated decision-making accountability
- Silvia Favalli, University of Milan (Italy)
Protecting Vulnerable Users of Banking and Financial Digital Platforms: A Disability Human Rights Perspective

To join online throughout both panels, please follow this link.